

PLAYING IN THE BAND

Starting a band? Then you'll need all the necessary elements, including a cornucopia of musical apparatus - just ask rock heiress Nicole Richie, who was seen shopping for instruments this week. But instead of scouring the local Guitar Center for her melodic needs, Nicole was seen leaving an ethnic foods market with tabla and giant keyboard in hand, while sporting a snazzy magenta sari. If Nicole is planning on assembling an all-girl band, we hope to see Mischa Barton rocking the sitar, Nicole banging on the tabla, and Linds-Lo tickling the ivories. It's the perfect marriage of East-meets-Hollyweird musical magic. If Rachel Zoe managed the trio, they'd be guaranteed not only international success, but a stage wardrobe consisting of peg-leg jeans and blous-y salwar kameez inspired tops. *Photo credited to: hollywoodrag.com
